Abscess hailed from Oakland California, started life in 1994, and is best described as "Sickodelic Gore Metal". Chris Reifert & Danny Coralles are both longstanding members of Death Metal legends Autopsy which was signed to Peaceville for 4 albums in the early 90's, before making a triumphant return from the grave in 2009. Chris also started his career in the 80's with the highly influential extreme metal band, Death. In the wake of the original cessation of Autopsy in the mid-90s, Abscess (with the core line-up completed by Clint Bower) took the mantle of extremity and notoriety to new depths with a string of albums and 7" releases spanning 15 years.

In 2002, Abscess signed to Peaceville Records and recorded SickCore classic, 'Through The Cracks Of Death' at Different Fur Recording Studios in San Francisco; the band already being very familiar with the studio as they recorded the seminal Autopsy album 'Mental Funeral' there in 1990. Abscess went on to record further albums in the form of Horrorhammer & the band's brutal farewell slab of decadent darkness, 'Dawn of Inhumanity'.
