Opis produktu

Anathema formed in Liverpool in the summer of 1990 and grew to become a major force in the doom metal genre with their early works, before exploring more rock and progressive elements over time to great success.

'Pentecost III' was released in early 1995 and was recorded at the infamous Academy Studios in Yorkshire UK. It featured classic heavy and often hypnotic doom metal, as well as a reworking/re-recording of the Memento Mori track from the 'Iliad' of Woes demo, plus the hidden track '666'.

This was the last release that vocalist Darren White appeared on, before leaving the band to form The Blood Divine with various members of the original Cradle Of Filth line up.
