DESEKRYPTOR will unleash their new EP "Sarcophagal Corridors" on May 16th, 2025 via Nuclear Winter Records.

Marking a bold shift in their creative approach, the band deconstructed their usual songwriting method by starting with drums instead of riffs. Percussionist P.A. recorded raw, unanchored drum tracks that guitarist E.S. then manipulated and smothered with riffs designed to overpower the rhythms. While the unorthodox process could have resulted in utter chaos, it instead gave birth to some of the most refined and structurally cohesive material the band has produced to date.

"Sarcophagal Corridors" stands as a testament to DESEKRYPTOR's willingness to experiment without losing sight of the malicious death metal core that defines them.

Continuing their descent into the depths of cavernous death metal, the new material promises to further sharpen the band's singular approach, where ancient brutality and spectral darkness intertwine.
