Opis produktu

Nuclear War Now! is now proud to offer the first reissue of “Adelain” on both CD and LP formats since its initial release by Unisound in 1995. In addition to having been originally released by the same label as both Rotting Christ’s and Varathron’s sophomore albums, “Adelain” was also recorded at the legendary Storm Studio under the supervision of George Magus of Necromantia, which lends further credence to the album’s strong Greek pedigree. This reissue also includes three rare bonus tracks taken from the previously-referenced promo tapes from 1994 and 1995. Considering its place not only as an example of its region’s uniqueness in a greater context, but also the album’s distinctiveness within its own regional context, this reissue once again celebrates Greece’s prominent role in black metal history.
