Opis produktu

As we were about to announce the launch of this very special series of soon-to-be-highly-collectable split EP, we were thinking about boosting how the heavy metal genre has been going through some kind of fascinating and enthralling revival over the last years... Until we realized our mistake: heavy metal never went away. Ever. Yes, it might at some point going back underground where it started in the first place but call it 'true metal', 'epic metal', 'new wave of traditional heavy metal' or whatnot, the fact is that ever since the bell rang on a rain-soaked bleak landscapes at the very beginning of Black Sabbath very first album in 1970, heavy metal just kept on growing and growing.

So this series is less about resurgence than it is about resistance and a burning passion that simply refuses to let go. It's also about supporting the bands who strive for heavy metal excellence and the whole scene they've built with their bare hands, quite often in pure DIY fashion. Each band will provide exclusive content, such as demo tracks, alternate mixes or covers and each entry will feature the same generic layout, giving this whole collectible series a sense of unity.

#2 The second part of the "Heavy Metal Thunder Sessions" collector's series comes with two important bands that started a new wave of traditional heavy metal in the world: Sweden's ENFORCER and Canada's CAULDRON! Two exclusive covers of legendary 80s heavy metal bands for the first time on vinyl format!
