Invocator has produced without a doubt one of the fastest albums ever recorded with “Excursion Demise”. Maybe even the fastest. An insane combination of high-speed technical Thrash with a hint of death metal is displayed on this debut. If you have ever heard their demo material, they knew what they wanted to do. Make insanely fast Thrash Metal. And they do it oh so well.

These musicians are top notch and the more you listen to their songs, the more you discover. There are tons and tons of riffs in every songs, but you don’t get lost. The songs structures are clearly stated with some small, but extremely interesting susprises here and there. This album is totally enjoyable from star to finish, with no boring moments at all.

In my opinion and it may be fact, this is the fastest Thrash album ever. When it comes to speed, nobody can touch these guys. They pull off the speed and competence so well. If you don’t have this album, get it. Right now.
