Jess and the Ancient Ones: Astral Sabbath EP Svart Record's 15th Anniversary Edition

Jess and the Ancient Ones released a three-song EP titled Astral Sabbath on 22 February 2012, recorded with the Swedish sonic wizard Tore Stjerna of Necromorbus Studio in their hometown Kuopio. Astral Sabbath pushed forward the boundaries of the sound established on their first full-length and forging their own path, as personified by the rather unusual choice of cover song Long and Lonesome Road, originally written and recorded by the Dutch rock outfit Shocking Blue, known for their mega-hit Venus.

"We wanted to give these works a space entirely their own, so that listeners can focus on them completely. For this purpose, we considered an EP the perfect means. Regarding the surprising choice of cover, I had heard the song at a very young age. And now, after travelling many roads, it returned to me. It is a timeless song and I hope someone discovers Shocking Blue through us", revealed guitarist Thomas Corpse more than 10 years ago.

Astral Sabbath proved that Jess and The Ancient Ones were already back then way beyond all those occult, prog or retro-rock tags and playing a game of their own. Svart Records will release limited 12" colored edition of Jess and The Ancient Ones mini-LP Astral Sabbath on December 20th, 2024. Svart Records' webstore also has a limited edition of 150 copies package of green/red/purple marble vinyl version of the self-titled debut album, limited edition of Astral Sabbath mini album with a special slip mat - all of these are packaged in a unique Jess & The Ancient Ones totebag.
