Opis produktu

2CD set from CARPATHIAN FOREST main man NATTEFROST. Includes the classic debut full-length 'Blood and Vomit' originally released in 2003 and the sophomore studio album 'Terrorist' from 2005.

The devious debut, 'Blood and Vomit' (2003) was written entirely by Nattefrost and is deemed as a black metal classic. Hailed as one of the most hatefully extreme records to ever be burned into wax, DARKTHRONE drummer Fenriz chose the song, "Sluts of Hell" for "Fenriz Presents: The Best Of Old School Black Metal" compilation released on Peaceville (2004). Nattefrost's true merit is proven as his song proudly sits alongside tracks by such genre pioneers as VENOM, BATHORY, CELTIC FROST, SODOM, MERCYFUL FATE, DESTRUCTION and MAYHEM. More evidence of the debut's supremacy is in the incredible rendition of the BEHERIT classic, "The Gate of Nanna".

2005s sophomore release, 'Terrorist' continues to recondition the currently commercially friendly black metal scene with filth and evil! His heart filled with hate and his face covered in feces, Nattefrost strengthens his attack on mainstream metal and drags the black metal genre back down towards its bleak, barren and blissfully miserable beginnings. With the aid of a like-minded few consisting of Dirge Rep (ex- ENSLAVED), Carl Michael (DODHEIMSGARD, AURA NOIR) and members of TAAKE, NATTEFROST's dark idealism is once again embodied in an album that is destined to become an essential black metal classic.
