After six years of silence following their inaugural EP, Asuryasparsha (□□□□□□□□□□□□□□), Kalikshetra black-noise esoterorists Nirriti reemerge as the embodiment of total negation, wielding the blade of Neti-Neti to sever the Monotheistic Godhead, dissolve the assertion of a supreme Creator, and obliterate the doctrine of creation itself, leaving no ground upon which a Creator may stand! With Axaazaroth of Canada's esteemed Nuclearhammer again on drums, the power-trio proceed to whip forth a delirium that's martial and mesmerizing in equal measure. Nirriti mulch the shattered remnants of primitivist black metal, earliest grindcore, and outsider noise into something that sounds - and looks - quite unlike anything else, only a horrific reflection of the inner and outer world. Reverse voices of the dead reverberate around the sonic / psychic wreckage, and both strings and skins similarly swirl with amorphous-yet-inexorable intent. Thus, the act of "listening" both becomes one of survival or transcendence, depending on that listener's proclivities; there is no middle ground here. Nirriti merely show you the path...and from there, there is no return. For those into the crimes of labelmates Tetragrammacide as well as Nyogthaeblisz, Intolitarian, Impurity's cult-classic Necro Infamists of Tumulus Return, and of course Nuclearhammer, Dhrupad Anutpada (□□□□□□ □□□□□□□): Apophatic Ragas Of Non-Origination is a new crucial key to the Beyond.
