Opis produktu

The 2024 studio release from Metal trailblazer's Orange Goblin.

Science, Not Fiction is an absorbing exploration (and exploitation) of the world as seen through the three fundamental factors; Science, Spirituality and Religion (and how they determine and affect the human condition). Commandingly articulated by vocalist Ben Ward, Orange Goblin's accomplished and deceptively intricate brand of Sabbath-ian Heavy Metal thunder provides the perfect musical support for these intriguing themes.

Produced and mixed by Grammy winning producer Mike Exeter (Black Sabbath) and mastered by Peter Hewitt-Dutton at The Bakery, LA.

Originally formed in London under the name Our Haunted Kingdom back in 1995, celebrated UK metal greats Orange Goblin entered the world of heavy music as wide-eyed enthusiasts, eager to channel the fire and fury of their favourite bands. Emerging amid the exhilarating melee of the mid-'90s stoner rock and doom explosion, Orange Goblin's debut album 'Frequencies From Planet Ten' was released via underground imprint Rise Above Records in October 1997.

Since then, the quartet has shared the stage with legendary acts such as Alice Cooper, Danzig, and Heaven & Hell among numerous others on their rise to prominence. A stream of critically acclaimed and widely revered studio albums also added to Orange Goblin's substantial legacy, from early classics like 'Time Travelling Blues' and 'The Big Black' through to more recent triumphs like 2012's universally praised 'A Eulogy For The Damned' and 2018's equally hailed 'The Wolf Bites Back'.

Fast forward to 2021 and Orange Goblin ushered in a new era of metal chaos, signing with legendary UK metal imprint Peaceville Records, with long-standing trio Ben Ward, Joe Hoare & Chris Turner joined by new bassist Harry Armstrong for this next chapter.

The first fruits of this union manifest in new studio album Science, Not Fiction.
