Well, who doesn’t know Therion?? As anyone should know, back in the early 90’s they got widely known in the Death Metal scene through their demo’s, EP and subsequent album “Of Darkness...” offering old-school Swedish Death Metal at its very best!
But what many of you surely don’t know, is that while Therion was in fact still in its demo-days - we’re talking 1990 here - founding member Christofer Johnsson had another project called PROCREATION (together with Peter Hansson, also from Therion, and David Isberg from Opeth), which remained pretty much lingering in the shadows throughout the years. Notwithstanding the quality of the music, only one official demo, an unofficial one and a putrid rehearsal tape were made, having been spread around only a very small bunch of friends and tape-traders at the time.
It’s about time someone lifted this stone, so Nomad Snakepit Productions is now proudly presenting you the vinyl version of the only official PROCREATION demo “Enter the Land of the Dark Forgotten Souls of Eternity”, excerpted directly from the original ’90 master tape, recorded at the infamous Sunlight Studios! The format is a 7”EP, released in two versions (red or purple vinyl) and limited to 400 copies!
Officially, this demo only featured three tracks, but we added 4 extra unreleased songs from the same recording session, making a total of 7 tracks of utterly dark and authentic old-school Swedish Death Metal, to relive those days, and to - at long last - put this demo on the pedestal where it has always belonged!
