Opis produktu

Black double vinyl in printed inner sleeves in gatefold.
Fourth pressing 250 copies worldwide.

Titans are the most ancient of all deities depicted in Greek mythology – even older than the Olympic Gods themselves. They represent the forces of nature. No other title could have been more apt to represent SEPTICFLESH's ninth full-length. "Titan" is the power of darkness made manifest in music. Guitarist Christos Antoniou, who passed his academic studies of classical composition with honours and distinction, already proved his prowess for orchestration with “Communion” (2008) and "The Great Mass" (2011). Yet on "Titan", the musician shows a new level of maturity in his use of classical instruments within a metal context, hiring once again the services of the FILMharmonic Orchestra Prague. With Fotis Benardo’s inhuman drum patterns and vocalist / bassist Seth “Siro” Anton’s demonic growls coming straight from the Underworld, "Titan" actually stands an otherworldly, godlike album.

For fans of FLESHGOD APOCALYPSE, ROTTING CHRIST, BEHEMOTH, EX DEO, MOONSPELL.
