After years of creative silence, Tenebrae In Perpetuum returns with their fifth studio album. Vacuum Coeli is a work that balances between primordial violence and rarefied, tension-filled introspection.

Written by Atratus the Frozen Glare in mystical solitude, fueled by intense inner exploration and a deep connection to themes of death, night, and the dissolution of the self, the album represents the synthesis and culmination of the project's last three chapters, marking a new milestone in Tenebrae In Perpetuum musical evolution.

While the icy, sharp guitars and the harsh, anguished vocals delve deep into the soul, Chimsicrin (Gorrch, Lorn) brings complexity and brutality to the song structures behind the drums. Atratus' lyrics, on the other hand are a dark and poetic meditation on existence, time, and the inevitability of the end.

released June 20, 2025

Mastered by Andrea Petucco (Ad Nauseam) and with a cover painting by Vama Marga (Depths Above), Vacuum Coeli marks a new peak in Tenebrae In Perpetuum's discography — a glacial, mystical, and deeply inspired work.
